The Electric Possible concert series is DC's mad monthly laboratory for promethean sound experiments. Over the past five and a half years, the series has been at the center of DC's growing experimental music community, providing opportunities for musicians to explore unusual ideas and projects that incorporate new technology, new spirit, new energy, and new combinations of instruments and musicians to create expanded definitions of music. The series encourages musicians to collaborate with each other and with dancers, poets and other disciplines, forming new projects that may be difficult to place in other venues due to their experimental, unclassifiable, or temporary nature. More info about the series is available at www.electricpossible.org.
