

Lift, 2017, Watercolor on GG2 Holbein rice paper, 54 x 496"

In the Space of a Day

Jenny Walton

June 23 - July 16

Opening Reception: Friday, June 23, 7-9 pm

Artist Talk and Closing Reception: Sunday, July 16, 6 pm

In the Space of a Day, a solo exhibition of work by Jenny Walton, invites viewers to contemplate the passage of time, the vicissitudes of our natural environment, and the possibility for hope in the face of challenge and struggle. Created in three cycles – morning, noon, and night – the exhibition's primary installation of large scale watercolors will fill DCAC's main gallery. The exhibition will also include a small selection of silverpoint drawings by the artist which further explore themes of transformation and renewal.